Biography:

Dr. Mark David Turner is a cultural historian and facilitator. He is a settler from St. John's, Newfoundland and Labrador living in Toronto, ON. Mark regularly communicates on subjects relating to music, film, performance, and archives in the Northwest Atlantic and the Circumpolar North. Recent press (CBC Ideas, Labrador Morning, The Signal, Weekend AM) and speaking engagements (Nickel Film Festival, Grenfell Campus of Memorial University) relate to his work in the areas of Labrador cinema and Inuit cinema. His essays have appeared in Inuit Art Quarterly, Labrador Life, Luma, Newfoundland Quarterly, Public and Them Days. Recent books include the edited collection Inuit TakugatsaliuKatiget | On Inuit Cinema (Memorial University Press, 2022) and Labrador Cinema, co-authored with Morgen Mills (Brack and Brine, 2022). Mark and Morgen own and operate the Labrador-based consultancy and publisher Brack and Brine.
