

Sandy Newton

Pronouns: she/her

Email address: sandy@nfld.com

Region: Avalon Peninsula

Willing to Travel: Yes

Available For:

Editing/Proofreading

Book Reviews

Copywriting

Journalism

Other:

Museum/gallery exhibit / interpretive text

Biography:

Sandy Newton is a freelance writer/editor based in Cupids. She began working with words in magazines in Toronto. Since her move to Newfoundland and Labrador in the 1990s, she has applied her writing and editorial skills to a wide range of projects, including museum exhibits, fiction and non-fiction books, corporate materials, government reports, UNESCO nomination packages, and more. Sandy is the co-author of the award-winning Birds of Newfoundland guidebook. Her texts appear in many exhibits across Newfoundland and she is pleased to have used her editorial eye to help guide and/or fine tune several award-winning books.

Selected Publications:

Birds of Newfoundland (co-author)

Various exhibit texts around the province

Regular contributor to The Old Farmer's Almanac for 20 years

Selected Awards:

2010 Best Atlantic-Published Book (Birds of Newfoundland)

Awards for books I have edited include:

2022 Atlantic Book Award for Scholarly Writing (Future Possible)

2020 Co-Winner, NL Heritage & History Book Awards (Robert Bond: A Political Biography)

2012 Tom Fairly Award for Editorial Excellence/Editors Canada (Here's the Catch)