

Terry T.C. Bursey

Pronouns: he/him

Email address: writertcbursey@gmail.com

Region: Central/Burin

Willing to Travel: Yes

Available For:

Manuscript Evaluations

Mentorship

Prize Adjudication

Editing/Proofreading

Readings

Book Reviews

Play/Screen/Script Writing

Speech Writing

Ghost Writing

Journalism

Speaking Engagements

Interviewing

Content Research

Social Media Content

Marketing/Communications

Press Releases

Advertising

Slogans/Taglines

Biography:

Terry (T.C.) Bursey is a versatile writer and passionate advocate for inclusive storytelling from Dover, Newfoundland and Labrador. As a former food columnist for SaltWire and journalist for Kingstonist, Bursey honed his skills in research, reporting, and storytelling. Today, he's a stay-at-home single father and works as a freelance writer, crafting everything from plays to science fiction manuscripts that explore the complexities of the human experience and challenge prevailing narratives. He is also proud to announce that his debut novel (Terra Nova: New Earth) is nearly finished! With encyclopedic knowledge, sharp wit, and infectious enthusiasm, Terry is a self-described know-it-all who is always eager to learn, share, and collaborate. Whether you're looking for a laugh, a challenge, or a new perspective on the world, T.C. Bursey is a writer you won't want to miss.

Selected Publications:

Various works of journalism through Kingstonist, SaltWire and independent media. Three performed plays and/or screenplays. Seven scrips for YouTube-based entertainment channels. Debut Newfoundland sci-fi novel in progress.